Hockey East Announces Schedule Updates

WAKEFIELD, Mass. - The Hockey East Association announced today the following schedule updates:

The women's programs at Providence and UConn are now scheduled to play a home-and-home series on November 21-22. The scheduling of this series is consistent with the league's commitment to a flexible scheduling model to provide meaningful opportunities for competition for all student-athletes throughout the 2020-21 season while maintaining the strict Return to Play protocols instituted by the Hockey East membership.

The women's series between Merrimack and Providence originally scheduled for November 20-21 has been postponed to a later date.

The men's game between New Hampshire and Boston College originally scheduled for November 20 has been postponed to a later date.
