2013 HOCKEY EAST TOURNAMENT SEMIFINAL PAIRINGS SET FOR TD GARDEN

Wakefield, Mass. - Hockey East Commissioner Joe Bertagna announced on Sunday night the pairings for the upcoming 2013 Hockey East tournament semifinal games on Friday, March 22nd at the TD Garden in Boston.

The No. 1 seed and regular-season champion UMass-Lowell River Hawks (24-10-2, 16-9-2 HEA) will face No. 4 seed Providence College (17-13-7, 13-8-6 HEA) in the first semifinal on Friday at 5pm. The River Hawks went 2-1 against the Friars in the season series, which included a 4-1 road win to clinch the regular season championship on the final night of the regular season. UMass-Lowell owns a 5-3-1 all-time vs. Providence in the Hockey East playoffs, and the two teams have never faced each other in the Hockey East semifinals. The Friars won a three-game road series with UMass-Lowell last March in the league quarterfinal round. The River Hawks advanced to the semifinals with a two-game sweep of Maine at the Tsongas Center (4-2, 2-1 OT), while Providence College took out New Hampshire in the deciding Game 3 (3-2) on Sunday at Schneider Arena in the quarterfinal series.

No. 2 seed Boston College (22-10-4, 15-9-3 HEA) will skate with No. 3 seed Boston University (20-15-2, 15-10-2 HEA) at 8pm on Friday in the second semifinal. The Eagles went 2-1-0 against the Terriers in the season series. BU is 8-3 all-time vs. the Eagles in the Hockey East playoffs and 2-1 in the semifinal round. The two teams last met in the 2009 semifinals, a 3-2 win for the Terriers. BC advanced with a two-game sweep of Vermont by scores of 4-2 and 4-1, while the Terriers swept Merrimack (3-0, 5-3) in their home quarterfinal series.

The Eagles, who are the defending champions of the tournament, have won a league-record 11 Hockey East Tournament titles, including six of the last eight tournament championships. The Terriers have won seven Hockey East Tournament Championships in the 28-year history of the tournament, while Providence has two tournament titles to its credit with the last coming in 1996. The Eagles will make their 21st appearance in the semifinals on Friday, the own a league-best 16-4 record in the semifinal round. UMass Lowell owns a 3-11 record in semifinal play and will be making their 14th semifinal appearance this weekend. The Terriers own a 9-11 record in 20 all-time appearances in the semifinal round and Providence owns a 4-8 record in 11 previous semifinal appearances.

The semifinal winners of each game will advance to the Hockey East Championship Game on Saturday, March 23rd at 7 p.m. at the TD Garden in Boston. All three games will be televised live in high definition nationally by NBC Sports Network and regionally by the New England Sports Network. Saturday's Championship Game will air on NESNplus around New England.
