CCM / RBK Player of the Month
Chris Collins – Boston College
Senior Forward; Fairport, NY

The scoring slack left by the departures of 2004-05 Eagle snipers Patrick Eaves and Ryan Shannon has been picked up enthusiastically by senior Chris Collins. He averaged exactly one goal and one assist per game over six contests in December, headlined by a monster weekend vs. UMass, a hat trick followed by a three-assist night. He also had three points in the championship game of the Denver Cup.

ITECH Goaltender of the Month
Tyler Sims – Providence
Sophomore; Fort Worth, TX

It's official – Providence is for real. The Friars are tied for first in Hockey East and are now ranked among the nation's top 15 programs. That's in large part due to Tyler Sims, who was a perfect 5-0 in December. Triumphs included a 36-for-38 showing vs. Maine and a 25-of-26 vs. Boston University, both traditional powerhouses.

Cody Wild – Providence

Freshman Defenseman; North Providence, RI

Quietly piling up impressive totals for a first-year blueliner, Cody Wild has been one of the key elements of a resurgent season for Providence College. He had one assist in each game of a 5-0 month for the Friars, including league wins over BU and Maine, and added a game-winning goal vs. Colgate. He ranks third in the nation among rookie defensemen in goals (4) and ranks fifth in points (11).
