FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: FEBRUARY 3, 2004

LINDSAY HANSEN NAMED TPS PLAYER OF THE MONTH
Chanda Gunn carries Northeastern's fortunes once again

UNH's Lindsay Hansen, last year's Rookie of the Year, has had an excellent second season. She is the leading scorer in Hockey East play with six goals and nine assists, most of those coming in recent action.

TPS Player of the Month
Lindsay Hansen – UNH
Sophomore Forward; Northport, NY

Hansen started off the month calmly enough, picking up just one goal in three non-conference games. The one was vital, however, giving UNH a 1-0 win at Niagara. Once league play started up again, Hansen exploded, contributing a goal in all but one of five Hockey East contests and piling on nine total assists in the same span.

ITECH Goaltender of the Month
Chanda Gunn – Northeastern
Senior; Huntington Beach, CA

It was another incredible month for the senior goaltender – perhaps the best of her career. She faced 218 shots over six games (an average of 36 per game) and allowed just six goals total (an average of one per game). Highlighting her season to date, she limited No. 4 Wisconsin to three goals on 103 shots in a two-game series, both ties. Two weeks later, she dropped defending Hockey East champ Providence by a 2-1 final.

ITECH Rookie of the Month
Melissa Bourdon – UNH
Freshman Goaltender; Ile Bizard, QC

A stabilizing force all season for the Wildcats, Bourdon had an impressive January between the pipes, picking up five wins to only one loss and one tie. She showcased her talents with a 36-save performance in a 2-2 tie at Mercyhurst and ended the month with a 4-3 win over Providence. She posted three shutouts in January, two in league play, and now has five total in her freshman year.
