UNH AT VERMONT WOMEN'S HOCKEY GAME POSTPONED ~No makeup date announced at this time~

WAKEFIELD, Mass. -- Hockey East Commissioner Joe Bertagna announced on Friday that the University of Vermont women's hockey game against the University of New Hampshire scheduled for Saturday (Nov. 14) at 2 p.m. at Gutterson Fieldhouse has been postponed due to a number of UNH student athletes with flu-like symptoms.

The league game between the two schools will be made up at a later date mutually agreed upon by school administrators.

"Our directors anticipated that this situation would arise this season," said Hockey East Commissioner Joe Bertagna. "The decision to postpone the game came only after input from the proper health authorities at the University of New Hampshire, as required by recently enacted league policy."

The Catamounts are scheduled to return to action on Friday (Nov. 20) when they host Boston College at 7 p.m. at Gutterson Fieldhouse. No. 4 ranked New Hampshire will return to the ice on Wednesday, November 18 at Harvard.
